Point prevalence of gastrointestinal parasites in double purpose cattle of Rio de Oro and Aguachica municipalities, Cesar state, Colombia

Juan Carlos Pinilla a, b, Paola Fiórez b, Marly T. Sierra b, Elsa Morales b, Raúl Sierra b, María Cristina Vásquez b, Julio César Tobón c, Alfredo Sánchez c, Diego Ortiz a

https://doi.org/10.1016/j.vprsr.2018.01.003

Highlights

- Animals younger than 12 months old were more likely to be infected with Strongyloides and Trichuris eggs and T. circumcincta larvae.